We're gathered here, from North and South,
We've come from East and West.
Our country calls, and here we are,
Prepared to do our best;
Old Glory floats above our heads, and proud indeed are we,
To do our part to make this world safe for Democracy.

CHORUS.

Then we'll tramp, tramp, tramp, and we'll fight, fight, fight,
For liberty and freedom, for justice, truth and right.
We'll fight on land or water, or high up in the air,
On mountains steep, in trenches deep, we'll fight, fight anywhere,
'Till every nation, great or small, from despots shall be free
We'll fight to make this wide, wide world safe for Democracy.

America! America! Our native land most dear,
We'll fight for thee, we'll die for thee
With ne'er a thought of fear,
And 'mid the battle's awful strife,
We'll always think of thee;
We'll do our best to make this world safe for Democracy.
